

A BIBLE AGNOSTIC'S NIGHTMARE

Bible Agnostics Attempt to Use Biblical Authority While Denying It

Bible agnostics/correctors, by blind faith in humanistic textual criticism, deny a tangible, perfect copy of the Scriptures exist. Thus, by their own stated ideology, they are left in a tragic self-conflicting position—attempting to authoritatively cite a Bible they simultaneously deny is literally infallible.

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “Jesus commands you to repent, turn away from all your sin, and believe on Him!”

Fornicator: “I am a good person and I already believe in God, thank you.”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize fornicator: “But you admittedly live in fornication and 1 Corinthians 6:9 teaches us that ‘no fornicator’ shall inherit eternal life. You must be born-again. Repent and be reconciled to God!”

Fornicator: “Let me see that Bible you’re quoting from!” (the fornicator grabs the Bible and casually thumbs through the pages). “This book has errors in it!”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “Well, ah, yes, it does, but most of it is true.”

Fornicator: “What do you mean, ‘most of it is true’? If you can’t trust every word of that book, then you can’t trust any of it! How do you even know what you are quoting is accurate?”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “Oh, yes, well, of course, I consult the original languages.”

Fornicator: “Original languages? You mean manuscripts (copies), right? I thought the original autographs no longer existed?”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “Hm, yes, that's true, they don't, but...”

Fornicator: “If you can't trust a translation because of the 'fallibility of man' how can you trust a manuscript copied by man? Do you read or speak Hebrew or Greek?”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “Um, well, no I don't...”

Fornicator: “Have you ever even seen or personally handled a genuine manuscript of the Bible?”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: “No, but...”

Fornicator: “So, let me get this straight: your Bible is flawed, you have no originals to empirically verify inspiration, so you cite supposed copies of the originals which are written in a completely different language which you cannot understand but simply trust the opinion of some 'expert' you've never met and you want me to stake my very soul on the words found in a Bible you admit has errors? Who do you think I am, some idiot? No thank you.”

Bible-Agnostic trying to evangelize a fornicator: (exasperated as the fornicator walks away) “Hey! Let me give you a tract and I'll throw in an NIV bible!”
